-----NOTES & NUMBERS-----

FIRST GLANCE- This week's games between Colorado and Stockton will be the first-ever meetings in team history. The Eagles and Heat are scheduled to face off eight times this season, as the two squads both compete in the AHL's Pacific Division. Stockton is one of seven teams that Colorado will be facing for the first time this year, as the team embarks on its first season in the American Hockey League.

POWERFUL- After failing to score on the power play in the first three games of the season, the Eagles have now scored 10 power play goals in their last 10 games, including five PP goals in their last five contests. What's been equally impressive has been the team's depth on the man-advantage, as those 10 power-play goals have been scored by five different goal-scorers.
